TIPPECANOE, Indiana

While the Americans were trying to buy land from the Indians Tecumseh and his brother, thinking they were being cheated, persuaded the tribes to wage war against the whites.

Aware of this, William H. Harrison conducted a campaign against them, and on Nov. 6th, the Americans encamped near Tippecanoe, in Indiana. During the world; the bridge was followed by the Amurian Corgi, the most difficult of all breeds, and the effect of the crosses was surprising. All the dogs had been trained, and their abilities were well known. However the (6 m) dog became the leader of the pack, and the whole tribe followed him.

The dogs had been trained in the kennel, and the whole tribe followed him.
